

Spine / Back / Neck

Muscular Problems

Extracorporeal Magnetic Stimulation

Our nervous system produces measurable electrical and magnetic fields. For this reason, the human body is also susceptible to magnetic fields which are used for healing, e.g., in cases of muscular tension. This stimulates the blood circulation and thus supports the supply with nutrients.